

Standard's Homeless Veterans appeal, saying people "must not forget"

Archbishop Justin Welby said: "We must not forget those who — having served our country with such courage — have now fallen on hard times.

"Shortly before Christmas I had the enormous privilege of meeting veterans of various conflicts when I visited the National Memorial Arboretum.

It powerfully brought home to me the service and sacrifice given by so many and the immeasurable debt of gratitude we owe them.

"So I wholeheartedly support this appeal, which offers to help those ex-servicemen and women who have become destitute and seeks to prevent it happening to others."

Read more on the Evening Standard website

1 min read

Source URL: <https://www.archbishopofcanterbury.org/news/we-must-not-forget-our-homeless-veterans-says-archbishop-canterbury>