

y slavery.

The Church of England has chosen its team that will face the Vatican XI in a historic cricket match to raise awareness of slavery and human trafficking on 19 September.

The match at Kent County Cricket Club will be used to raise funds for the Anglican-Roman Catholic anti-trafficking initiative, the Global Freedom Network.

Entrance will be free but there will be a bucket collection during the match, which will be followed by a gala dinner to raise further funds.

Taking on the Vatican XI will be:

The Revd Jez Barnes, captain (batsman and slow bowler)

Will Foulger (seam bowler and lower- order batsman)

The Revd Rob Glenny (opening bowler and lower-order batsman)

The Revd Steve Gray (top-order batsman, wicket-keeper)

Jonny Hughes (wicket-keeper and middle- order batsman)

Chris Kennedy (opening batsman and seam bowler)

The Revd Matt Lefroy (bowler)

Chris Lion (top-order batsman and leg-spin bowler)

Rob Oram (batsman)

Jim Robinson (middle-order batsman)

John Summers (middle-order batsman)

Andy Watkins (seam bowler and middle- order batsman)

Read more about the team on the Church Times website

Read more about the Global Freedom Network

1 min read

Source URL: <https://www.archbishopofcanterbury.org/news/latest-news/news-archive-2017/sins-our-eyes-archbishop-joins-ecumenical-patriarch-fight-34>